Anderson is about as well represented in harleston this week as any County in the tate. Large numbers of our citizens, both rom the town and country, left on the train Tuesday morning, and a goodly number fol-lowed on Wednesday. We understand the train was crowded when it left Belton on Tuesday, and no doubt by the time it eached Columbia every available spot was occupied.

The address of ex-Senator Cochran to the cople of Anderson County has been pretty erally commented upon by the Press of the State, and as far as we have seen the comments have been favorable to him. He is now spoken for the office of United States Marshal for this State, and is generally preferred to either Wallace, of Columbia, or Johnston, of Sumter, at present the strongest competitors for the place.

It is with regret that we announce the death of Mrs. John B. Leverett, which occurred on last Thursday morning, at the residence of her husband, in Hall town-ship. She leaves a husband and five little children, with many friends, to mourn he death. She had been a consistent member of the Cross Roads Church for several years nd her remains were interred in the graveyard at that Church on Friday.

The erection of a telephone between the main business portion of the town and de-pot would be a most desirable improvement, and we would be pleased to see some case take the matter in hand and secure its erection. It would be a great advantage to all those having business with the depot officials, and compared to the trouble and aborious walking saved during the hol summer months, would cost but a trifle.

We desire to tender our sincere thanks to Mrs. Gen. Humphreys for a dish of deli-cious strawberries seut us on Wednesday morning. The berries were large and luscious and of fine flavor, and were much enjoyed. Mrs. Humphreys has had strawberries regularly for three weeks past, which fact is in itself sufficient evidence of the success with which she meets in the culture of this most delicious and wholesome fruit,

The biggest hog story that has come to ir ears in a long time was related to us on Monday by a citizen of the Storeville neigh borhood, the correctness of which he vouch es for. It is this: On Sunday, the 18th of January last, a hog, weighing about 175 pounds, fell into a well, in which there was aeither water nor food, and there remained Captain A. C. Laughlin, formerly of this until last Saturday morning, the 17th of April, exactly ninety days, when it was ac-cidentally discovered by some children. When taken out it was found to be still ered no injury whateve except the loss of about 75 pounds of flesh. The hog is of the Guinea variety, and had been missing since that morning, and was seen near the well for the last time.

We take the following account of the wash out on the Air Line Railroad by the recent heavy rains near Currehee mountain, on a little stream called North Broad, ordion a little stream called North Broad, ordi-narily not larger than a spring branch, from the Picker: a Sentiad: "The embankment was 105 feet high and 400 feet of it was car-ried away. The authorities of the road had taken the precaution to cut down all the trees and collect every chunk and brush in the field above the road, through which the small streams mus, in order to prevent the community to examine. Ms. Eparca: The result of the meeting recently held to consider the propriety of the Town Council purchasing a fire appa-ratus but illustrates the riter fatility of such a procedure. Whilst the motive that prompted the Town Council to call the mosting is not impugued, yet its expediency and the necessity for it is questioned.

The need of a fire apparatus of some kind is known and felt by all. This being true, why leave the selection of a particular kind to a meeting composed of men differing much in preference and opinion as they do in their faces. Can any definite conclusion be reached? The Council can't comply with the wants of all the taxpayers, and, judging from the meeting referred to, they will not become reconciled to any other apparatus than their own personal preference, and hence the impossibility of a coom plishing what was intended by the meeting So the call of the meeting for the purpose signated was not expedi lesignated was not expedient.

The citizens of the Town every year elect a Council to preside over and protect the interests of the Town. They are presumed to be men in whose ability and good judgment they have the utmost confidence, or else they would not occupy the positions. Why then should they consult the will of the people about that which in their own judgment is a necessity, and which comes clearly within the province of their dudes, namely, the protection of the property of the Town. It is certainly not expected of them, if so we had better abolish the sys-tem, and let the Town government be man-aged directly by the people; but I don't believe that a majority of the taxpayers desire to be consulted about such matters, and having placed the reins of Town government in the hands of the Courcil, they are willing to leave them there. The Town Council have the right, and should consult their own judgment as to their duties, and, having done so, they can rest satisfied, conscious of duty done, and have the assurance that the people, if dissatisfied, can have redress at the ballot-box. There was then no real necessity for the meeting.

Our Town is utterly destitute of any means to extinguish fire, and I might say, destitute of the hope of ever securing effec-tive means, if the Council are to be governed by the results of said meeting. It is to be hoped that such will not be the case, The meeting was attended by not more than one-third of the property-holders, and only four of these expressed any opinion. It was comparatively a failure, and the whole matter should remain in the hands of the Council, who have the authority to art, guided, of course, by their beat judg-nunt. They have during the past two terms managed the affairs of the Town with great credit to themselves and to the Town. They have reduced taxation fifty per cent. relieved themselves of all indebtedness placed the walks and streets of the Town in splendid condition, and, as the next Town election is near at hand, if they are to give place to others, how fitting it would be to leave to the Town a magnificent fire engine as a monument of their usefulness and as a means of securing protection to the lives and property of its citizens.

A Suggestion to our Representatives. Mr. Epiron: The address of Hon. John R. Cochran to the people of Anderson in your issue before the last is full of interest, and we are agreeably surprised to know that Colonel Cochran had the nerve, under such trying circumstances, to battle for the right at all times and under all circumstances, regardless of party feeling, only considering his duty to those he represented and the welfare of the State. This detailed ac-count of his stewardship in both branches of the General Assembly suggests the pro-priety of all of our Representatives favor-ing the people with a similar document. If for no other reason, that we might act advisedly in the coming election. Will not some others let us see what of their stewardship.

Andersen's Prosperity.

Within a short time Politics will be engaging all of our attention, and we desire beforehand to give a sketch of Arderson generally and its principal Busices especially. However, it is no small matter to form an exact estimate to what extent business really has increased in this town within the last few years. It is true we have statistics of cotton shipments, but that is all and at the same time inadequate. The best criterion we think is the number of new business houses that have been opened, the way the town has generally improved, and the great demand for houses. With the Blue Ridge Railroad completed, there is no doubt of Anderson's assured success and the position she will hold as the leading market in upp. South Cerolina. In the Fall of 1875 quite an addition was made—one of untold benefit—a permanent and lasting improvement—the opening of what is pep-ularly called the "New York Cash Store." ularly called the "New York Cash Store."

The proprictors, Messus, Arnstein & Rose, entered heartily upon the work, and have every reason to be proud of their great success. They had confidence in themselves, and in the South; they knew that by honect efforts a trade could be built up as no other house ever enjoyed; they brought with them nuthern energy and persistency. with them northern energy and persistency; they had all the advantages that possibly could be wanted for success—capital, the rough understanding of business, energy and a practical knowledge of the New York maket. They soon became known as men worthy of every confidence, men who came with the fixed determination to stay, and our people were not slow in partaking liber-ally of the advantages the New York Cash Store offered. Their system is strictly cash, and anyone who ever had the misfortune of buying on a credit can at a glanca tell the advantages and the result—low prices. This town is very much indebted to that enterprising house for resilly low prices and a large assortment of goods. Every year their trade has wonderfully increased, and so has their stock proportionately, and it is but justice to them to say that at present it is the largest that ever was shown in the up-country. Their elegantly fixed to store presents the appearance of a wholesale warehouse piles of goods everywhere, every inch utilized up to the very ceiling, shelves are laden and the middle counters filled. We have no doubt but what every man, woman and child in the county has been in that establishment. Their way of selling is plain and straightforward, their prices—for various reasons—so very reasonable, that no one can wonder at their immense trade. Every body goes to the New York Cash Store, be cause they can find what they want, and are waited on nicely and get the lowest possible prices. The ladies fully appreciate this house, for it supplies their wants, from a pin to the finest silk, from a common slip-per at 50 cents to the finest French kid button, all kinds of fancy goods and notions at a small advance above New York costwhat only a cash house can Jo. To the gentlemen this house needs no introduction from us. It is recognized as headquarters for ready-made and made-to-order clothing, fine furnishing goods, nobby hats and shoes of all kinds. We may give an idea of their best and prettiest calicoes for only 7 cents, when they are worth to-day at wholesale in New York 8 cents. They bought them soon and give their patrons the benefit of it.

That kind of advertising—selling goods cheap—has paid them handsomely, and they intend to adhere to it. Messrs. Arnstein and Rose, Robert C. Webb, M. J. Hoek and R. C. Cunningham are pleasant and agreeable gentlemen and delight in showing goods and pleasing customers .-Everybody will do well by heeding our advice, "Be sure to go to the New York Cash Store."
